Overview

Co-chair of the firm's Hospitality Law Services Practice, Damian serves as outside general counsel to closely-held companies, with a particular emphasis on the hospitality sector. He advises owners of hotels, food and beverage cooperatives, restaurants, and other leisure activity businesses on a variety of operational and legal issues, including labor and employment matters, premises liability claims, landlord tenant disputes, financing and refinancing agreements, purchase and sale agreements, and other corporate governance issues.

A seasoned trial attorney who relishes fighting for clients engaged in high-stakes litigation, Damian is also co-chair of the firm's White Collar and Criminal Defense Practice and a member of its Commercial and Corporate Litigation Practice. Relying on skills he developed as a prosecutor and public defender at the federal, state and municipal levels, he has tried to conclusion the most complex commercial, white collar criminal, and personal injury matters, including claims of professional misconduct, director and officer malfeasance, financial crimes, healthcare fraud, minority shareholder oppression, employment discrimination, tax fraud, and land use disputes.

Damian has been consistently named to the Best Lawyers in America list and New Jersey Super Lawyers list in litigation.
